Adopted Act on changes and amendments to the Chemicals Act

The Parliament has adopted the Act on changes and amendments to the Chemicals Act, on 1st February 2008, which will come into force on 1st June 2008.

Toward the end of the year 2006, the European Union has adopted the REACH regulation, which introduces some changes to the existent procedures. For this reason the act has been adequately modified. Beside the harmonization with EU legislation, there was also the possibility to amend the act in those segments, where practice has shown to be reasonable.

Thus, beside other things, the storage of chemicals is further managed with special technical and organizational measures. In the process of the evaluation of influence on the environment and in the environmental safeguard permission acquirement process for industrial plants, the opinion of the National Chemicals Bureau of the Republic of Slovenia is introduced. Biomonitoring is introduced as well.
